

SOUTH HOLLY CHURCH

Welcome!

Dirty! Ever feel the weight of being “unclean”? In Shakespeare’s Macbeth, Lady Macbeth had been complicit in the murder of King Duncan, and it weighed so heavily on her that we hear of her trying to rub the blood off her hands in her sleep. “Will these hands ne’er be clean!” she cries. Shakespeare, it turns out, had incredible insight into the workings of a guilty subconscious.

It is not just our own action, or lack of action, that can leave us feeling unclean, but it could be something done to us or toward us. Jesus came to set the captives free and make the unclean, clean! Jesus shows us in this passage how he deals with those of us who are unclean and come to Him for help. Instead of withdrawing in disgust, He draws near and reaches out to us.

He moves toward us, not away from us!

Unconfessed _____ in our life is _____ us

What is your " _____ "

Our _____ must turn into _____

When God touches our _____, it transforms our _____

_____ to Jesus is the best _____ of Jesus

_____ is thinking we know _____

_____ and the leper _____ places

Put into practice this week:

- Be Made Clean
- Allow your compassion to turn into action
- Be a good neighbor
